Minutes of Third China-Southeast Asian Countries Marine

Cooperation Forum

The Third China-Southeast Asian Countries Marine Cooperation Forum was successfully convened in Qingdao, China during December 28-29, 2015. The Forum was sponsored by the State Oceanic Administration of China (SOA) and the IOC Sub-Commission for the Western Pacific (WESTPAC), and was organized by the First Institute of Oceanography (FIO) of SOA. The goal of this Forum is to strengthen the scientific communication amongst the Southeast Asian countries and China, and to strengthen the existing platforms for future cooperation. 74 scientists and government officials from Cambodia, Indonesia, Laos, Malaysia, Myanmar, Thailand, as well as China attended the Forum.

Ms. CHEN Yue, Dr. Somkiat Khokiattiwong and Dr. QIAO Fangli, on behalf of the sponsors and local organizer, addressed the opening session of the Forum and expressed their strong support to the regional marine cooperation among the Southeast Asian countries and China.

39 presentations were given by experts under four themes of the Forum, namely: 1) Ocean and Climate Change, 2) ocean forecasting system and Observation, 3) Marine Environment and Biodiversity, and 4) Coastal Management and Development of Marine Technology. Dr. YU Weidong (China), Dr. Somkiat Khokiattiwong (Thailand), Dr. QIAO Fangli (China), Dr. Mohd Fadzil (Malaysia), Dr. ZHANG Xuelei (China), Dr. Kongkiat Kittiwatanawong (Thailand), Dr. CHEN Jian(China) and Dr. Thay Chantha (Cambodia) served as co-chairs of the thematic sessions.

Based on comprehensive discussion and communication, the participants agreed that it was important to develop marine cooperation initiatives in this region and strengthen the partnership mechanism among marine research institutes and universities of the Southeast Asian Countries and China. The priorities of future cooperation include:

- 1. Ocean and Climate Change
 - 1.1 Cooperative study and research of boundary current and upwelling in Indian Ocean area, especially the implementation of Eastern Indian Ocean Upwelling Research Initiative (EIOURI).
 - 1.2 Development monsoon monitoring and research on the monsoon's prediction, and its impacts on coastal marine ecosystem and society.
- 2. Ocean forecasting system
 - 2.1 Participating in the ongoing Ocean Forecasting System (OFS) project of IOC/WESTPAC and share data, technology and forecasting products.
 - 2.2 Development of sub-domain high-resolution ocean forecasting system for the interested ocean areas.
- 3. Marine Environment and Biodiversity
 - 3.1 Development of the regional collaborative study of marine ecosystem such as

- algal and jellyfish blooms, environmental safety, blue carbon, and marine biodiversity in particular marine endangered species (MES).
- 3.2 Continued supporting and participating in the MES projects under the framework of China-ASEAN Maritime Cooperation Fund and IOC/WESTPAC.
- 4. Coastal Management and Development of Marine Technology
 - 4.1 Development of the coastal management and marine technology, such as coastal zone, mangrove ecosystem, marine functional zoning, and etc.
- 5. Strengthen capacity building including training and education
 - 5.1 Participating in the annual training course in the future, this will be organized by UNESCO/IOC Regional Training and Research Center on Ocean Dynamics and Climate (ODC center) and WESTPAC.
 - 5.2 Organizing training program such as project training, technology training in the area of surface wave-tide-circulation coupled model, marine environmental microbial monitoring, and etc.
 - 5.3 Diligently applying for education, including the Chinese Marine Scholarship Ph.D and Master Degree course.
 - 5.4 Cooperation on establishing and strengthening regional/national ocean observation system and implementing joint research cruises.
 - 5.5 Exchanging scientists, technologists and academics among Southeast Asian Countries and China.

The participants welcomed the continuation of the Forum among the Southeast Asian countries and China to promote marine scientific cooperation. The Agenda and participants lists are attached in Annex I and Annex II, respectively.
